Additions of new buildings symbolize the ever-changing community of BSC

Familiar Amid Change

Sean McBride, Melanie Glover, Amanda Burkett, Maureen McAuliffe, and Michelle Shannon enjoy lunch in the midst of all the construction on the new Norton Campus Center.

Seasons of Change
The ginko tree, located between Stephens Lab Center and Munger, displays the beautiful colors of fall. It is a favorite among many students and faculty on campus. It is a symbol of change, with its leaves turning into beautiful colors every season of the year. Our campus, like the ginko tree, changes constantly.

Changing R O O M S

Helping Hands Triangle Club members Elizabeth White and Shelley Hyde are quick to help freshman Erin Kendrick move clothes and boxes to her new room in Goodwin. Many upperclassmen assisted new students on a hectic move-in day.

A Friendly Smile... All the RAs were on hand to offer information as well as ensure that move-in ran smoothly. A welcomed smile and hug from RA Holly Tankersley helps Lori Johnson feel at home.

Just One More Load... RA Yin Ho uses any means necessary to get everything in one last trip, even if that means using her teeth. Yin tries to cut down on the number of trips to the car while getting to know the new students.

A Little More... Freshman Douglas Reed, like most incoming students, loaded at least one car before traveling to BSC. Students brought everything from vans to U-hauls. Luckily, upperclassmen, such as Ross LaGarde were on hand to carry everything to the dorm rooms.

First Day...

A new student's first day at college can be filled with mixed emotions, but upperclassmen such as sophomore April Barber welcome Katie O'Brien and other freshmen and lend extra hands. Students bring a multitude of belongings, from televisions to photographs, to capture a piece of home in their new dorm rooms.

This is it... Finally, Brad Parsons carries the last box to his Cullen Daniel room on the third floor. The computer will be a welcome addition to the room, especially at exam time.

Visits... A friendly visit from Rho Chi members Stacy Speigle and Sarah Raney and Triangle Club member Bradley Hayes helps Nancy Jones adjust to her first day of college and remind her about upcoming events, such as Orientation and Rush.

New F A C E S

Bow to Your Partner... Freshmen John Bivona and Jessica Lewis follow the caller's directions at the square dance. The square dance, held during freshman orientation, is an annual Hilltop tradition. It provides the new students a chance to get to know each other a little better and have a great time. All photos by Marie Shunnarah and Claire King.

New Friends...

Taking a break from RHA's dorm quad games, Sireesha Allamneni and Soumya Bhat get to know each other better. Orientation activities help freshmen to become more acquainted with the campus, as well as with fellow members of their class before the semester starts.

Taking a Break... An August night can get hot, especially during a square dance. SOS, Students Offering Support, was there to provide drinks for hot, tired students.

Country Line Dancing... Freshman Orientation is a great time for freshmen to have some fun after moving to the Hilltop. A night of country line dancing becomes just that, with everything from the Achy Breaky to the Tush Push.

All Smiles... One of the scariest things about going off to college is meeting new people. However, Amy Miller, Sarah Monti, and Anna Sicola seem to have made that first step and forged new friendships.

A new view...

Construction materials and vehicles cover the campus. Work on the new Norton Campus Center required a great deal of equipment and workers. All photos by Nick Nunally.

Up and coming...

Everyone is able to observe the progress on the Striplin Fitness Center as they drive onto campus. Students look forward to its opening next fall. The fitness center will be complete with a variety of equipment to keep students in shape including an indoor track, basketball court, swimming pool, and weight room. Construction on campus includes the new Norton Student Center, the Alumni Plaza, and the renovation of Hanson dorm.

The latest look... The Snavely Student Center takes on a new look as construction continues. The existing Snavely building will be remodeled and added to the new Norton Campus Center.

Reaching OUT

Helping hands... Top: Along with other volunteers, Jay Mitchell and Clay Ryan devote time to carpentry and painting.
Right: Dan Haggstrom, Kelly Rhodes, Marsha Savage, Ashley Wilkinson, AaronCook, and Anna Bowen relax a minute from their work. These students spent the majority of their day working throughout the community on service projects.

Hot summer day... Outreach day required hard work and dedication from the participating students. Much of the work was outdoors in the heat and involved manual labor. Anna Bowen and Ashley Wilkinson were just a couple of the students who spent the day painting parking lots.

Hardwork...

Outreach Day is a time for students to put aside their normal Saturday activities and give something back to their community. Service projects are set up around the area and interested students spend the day working on one of the projects. While some students took children to the zoo or hiking at Oak Mountain, others like Wendi Rahm, Krista Chandler, and Tonya Meier offered their services in the construction area. All photos by Claire King.

Costumes Galore... Many students got into the spirit of Halloween during the festival. Doug Lurie and Trey Baird, dressed as little old ladies, could not wait to be a part of the festivities and spend time with the children.

A Look Into the Future... BSC's sororities were quick to lend support to Halloween on the Hilltop. At Kappa Delta's booth, Madame Stephanie Campbell consults her crystal ball about Adam Horne's future.

Casting Spells...

Good fairy Mary Catherine Richardson casts on spell on Becky Rone. With the students getting in on the act, it was sometimes hard to tell who was having more fun, the kids or the students. Halloween on the Hilltop allows the students to interact with neighborhood children.

Changing Faces...

Although rain caused Halloween on the Hilltop to be moved inside, it didn't dampen the fun. Children from the surrounding neighborhoods came to enjoy a variety of games and activities, including a haunted house, an inflatable jumping gym, and trick-or-treating. One of the most popular booths, however, was the International Student Association's face painting booth, where children could have stars, balloons, hearts, and other images painted on their faces. Karol Medina gives a little boy a unique design as he sits patiently.

A Weekend Concert... On Friday night, the sounds of Passing Through, Dolomite, and Jack Ingram filled the air of the dorm quad. The lead singer of Dolomite performed a variety of upbeat songs, which were popular with the audience.

Free Time...

Fun Times...

Seniors Jeanna Henderson and Jennifer Parker love getting the chance to hear new bands, especially on campus, and Entertainment Fest provides that opportunity. Quest II works hard to bring talented and fun bands, both old and new, to campus.

Together...*

Entertainment Fest provides an opportunity for the entire student body to come together and have a little fun after a long week. E-Fest also gives students the perfect time to invite their friends from other campuses to come visit and enjoy a bit of true Southern hospitality. All photos by Claire King.

Taking a Break... Quest II members Leanna Bankester, Kate Klocke, Susannah Groves, and Molly Pardue take a break from their E-Fest duties to hang out with friends

Familiar FACES

Home sweet home...

Dorm rooms are used for everything from studying to eating to sleeping. Most students spend the majority of their time outside of classes in the dorms. Whether its hanging out with friends in the suite or common rooms or hitting the books in a room, dorms become a student's home away from home.

Free time... Freshmen spend much of their free time watching movies or talking with new friends.

Clowning Around...

The first year of college is filled with papers, projects, classes, labs, homework, and deadlines. So its no surprise that with all this pressure freshmen Jennifer Helms and Shaye Rabold are climbing the walls.

All photos by
Marie

Technology... Right: Both men and women dorms provide students with access to a computer lab. Above: Some students use the technology on campus to write papers, while others find Nintendo more entertaining.

LIFE

Resident Advisors... An R.A.'s job is never done. So between hall meetings and settling problems, Braxton Comer and Courtney Chastain enjoy some peace and quiet.

Computers... Many students have computers in their dorm rooms for checking email and writing papers.

Long
talks..

Most residents of Margaret Daniels can attest that a large amount of time is spent in long talks with friends.

Freshmen Lori Johnson, Allison Head, and Tip Stewart spend the evening talking in a Margaret Daniel dorm room.

Studying... Common rooms provide good study areas, but sometimes students just have to leave the dorm to get work done.

Student Life

Eating

Picnics...

On nice days many students enjoy taking their lunch outdoors and eating at one of the tables or on the grass.

Enjoying the great outdoors... Students take time out of their day to have a meal with friends.

Moving the Caf...

On special occasions the cafeteria moves outside to Alumni Plaza to serve students. Meals range from sandwiches to hamburgers and gives the students a chance to enjoy the outdoors.

Travelling Abroad...

Jennifer Warren, Jordan Segrest, Molly Pardue, and Kerri Hinman huddle together to keep warm in Italy. Many students travel during Interim to a variety of places. eady to go... These students wait for transportation into the Zimbabwean countryside. It took the group almost two days to reach the continent. Their route took them from Atlanta to London to Harare, the capital city of Zimbabwe. Photo courtesy of Kim Vinson.

Changing SUBJECTS

Working hard... Whether indoors or outside, students find places to study. The dorm quad provides a great place for studying in nice weather for Evelyn Frazier. Olin often attracts the late night study sessions, like this one with Tommy Brunson and Melissa Boren.

Hitting the Books... Dorm rooms and suiterooms are excellent places for students, like Scarlett Singleton and Nicole Forse, to spend time reading or writing papers.

sessions..*

Perhaps one of the biggest adjustments to college is learning good study habits. Many students find that they study more now than ever before. When preparing for test or finals or when writing papers, study and help sessions are a student's best asset. All photos by Claire King and Marie Shunnarah.

Taking notes... These students have found that comparing and studying notes are vital ways to study.

Brain Power...

Maureen McAuliffe and Kate Bullock concentrate on their game of chess. SGA provided the Cellar with a chess board, checkers, and other games for students to play.

Workin' Hard..

Tasha Lew steams milk for a coffee latte. The Cellar is completely staffed by students, who make tempting coffee creations for fellow students and faculty. It's also a place to display student artwork and listen to mellow music. For many, the Cellar is a place to meet friends and talk about the happenings on campus. Professor also come to the Cellar to relax and interact with students in a non-academic setting. A photos by K. Vinson.

Pounding the pave- ment...

A favorite form of exercise is running and walking around campus.

Walkers and runners can usually be seen anywhere from the front gate to the fraternity and faculty rows.

court...*

Most students enjoy some type of physical activity. While some prefer walking or running, others choose weightlifting, like Jason Mitchell, or organized sports, including basketball. Academic achievement is not the only matter with which students are concerned. Physical fitness is also a large part of students' lifestyle.

Inside and out... Edward Hargrove uses the intramural field as a place to play.

Changing SCENERY

Relaxing... Andy Yates and Jennifer Heaven talk on the dorm quad. The quad provides a place for students to spend time together, study, or talk while enjoying the outdoors. The grassy areas, benches, and deck allow students to spend spare moments enjoying the scenery or the activities on the quad.

Friendly FACES

A safe haven... The guard station is the home of BSC Security. The officers are committed to protecting the campus and are always willing to help students in any way that they can.

Keepers of the peace... Security can be found anywhere on campus. These two officers attempt to keep the peace at Southern Comfort, which was held in Simpson due to rainy weather.

Welcoming new students.. The officers help to make the move-in process as easy as possible for the new students and their parents.

Check-ing In... A security officer checks in a visitor to campus. Security takes many precautions to secure the campus. One includes checking in vehicles that do not bear a current BSC auto decal. Students appreciate the safety measures taken by the campus officers and always wave to them as they pass by the guard station. Not only does security help students on campus, but they also will travel off-campus to rescue a stranded student. A photos by Kim Vinson and Claire King.

Honor, Grace, and Friendship

"Kappa Delta is a group of sisters that embodies the spirit of honor, grace, and true friendship. In service to both the campus and the community, the sisters of Kappa Delta continually strive to represent the ideals of wisdom and leadership. Whether it is working to better the lives of forgotten children through philanthropic activities at the Exchange Club and Children's Hospital, representing many organizations in the college community, or spending time together on campus, Kappa Deltas never fail to personify all that is honorable, beautiful, and highest.

Pioneering Spirit

"As the first national fraternity for women, Pi Beta Phi represents a pioneering spirit within the Greek world. The sisters of Alabama Alpha continue to strengthen the ideals initiated 131 years ago. Our fraternity has ministered to the minds of children through our Links to Literacy program and to the spirit of artists who come to learn at Arrowmont School of Arts and Crafts. ## Special Love

"... The foundation precept of Zeta Tau Alpha was love, the greatest of all things.' As Zeta Tau Alphas, we demonstrate the special love between sisters, as well as strong bonds of sisterhood and personal leadership daily. Zeta Tau Alpha encourages involvement in campus and community activities and strives for academic excellence. Our sisters serve in Ivy League, PSSO, SGA, SVS, and various other activities. Through ZTA we are encouraged to be ourselves, while striving to be our very best selves."

Greek students change their style when they dress-up for mixers with creative themes

Mascarade

Mixers give Greeks, especially freshmen, the opportunity to get out and meet new people. Mixers are also a great time to get together with old friends and have a little fun. The colorful and creative costumes just add more fun to the party. Some mixer themes include

ATO

Alpha Tau Omega is a brotherhood based on friendship. Through our friendship with one another, we find support, encouragement and memorable moments. We all have much to offer each other through our diverse backgrounds. On top of that, we as a fraternity are much older than NASCAR.

Matt Tully, President

Kappa Alpha

Phi

The tradition that the brothers of the Phi chapter have been presented into maintains the highest ideals of fidelity to God and esteem of women. We pride ourselves on our gentlemanly heritage and principles. We are not just fraternity men: we are brothers united in a unique organization among Greek letter societies. As we excel in campus involvement, intramurals, and social life, we try to live in the wisdom of our founders: "You will never grow taller than when you stoop to help a brother... You can never become wiser by disregarding the sterling ideals of your order." The brothers of Phi chapter have been recognized nationally as one of the top chapters in the country. We proceed through life bearing in mind the words of our spiritual founder, Robert E. Lee: "Forgive and forget... and strive for that nobleness of self and mildness of character that impart sufficient strength to let the past be the past. A true man of honor feels humbled himself when he cannot help humbling others."

Sigma Alpha Epsilon

Alabama Iota

Sigma Alpha Epsilon was founded in 1856 at the University of Alabama to preserve the values of intellect, wisdom, and right living that our brothers cherish to this day. Our commitment to BSC can be seen through their participation in SGA, Honor Council, PSSO, and the Housing Staff. We are also a part of honoraries such as Phi Beta Kappa, Mortar Board, and ODK. Here at SAE we strive to build strong friendships, a sense of real dedication, and mature men.

Sigma Chi

Chi Chi

Though the youngest chapter on campus, founded in 1993, Sigma Chi has already established a solid place as a leader among BSC fraternities. We strive to excel in all aspects of college life: academic, social, athletic, and service to the community. For the fifth year in a row, we have been recognized as one of the top Sigma Chi chapters in the nation by winning the prestigious Peterson Distinguished Chapter Award. This year we led the campus with the All Sports Trophy and the highest pledge class GPA. Our strong brotherhood serves to make well-rounded men of high character and moral standing.

Sigma Nu

Lambda Theta

Sigma Nu was founded in 1869 with the desire to respect the integrity and character of each of its members and to teach young men to live by the ideals of Love, Truth, and Honor. Here at BSC, the Lambda Theta Chapter has continued these pursuits since its inception in 1987. We have been awarded the Sigma Nu Rock Award three consecutive times, ranking our chapter among the top ten in the nation. On campus, we are well represented in almost all student groups, including SGA and Residence Life, as well as many academic honorary societies. We also participate in intramural sports and host social events such as Undertaker's Cotillion, White Rose Formal, and Spring Knights. Through the opportunities and fellowship our brotherhood provides, we continue to develop mature men who are prepared for success both in college and after they leave BSC.

Theta Chi

Beta Xi

Theta Chi is an organization that is very involved in all areas of college life. Theta Chis are represented in almost every organization on campus including SGA, IFC, PSSO, Quest II, and many others. We are also well represented in academic and leadership honoraries such as Omicron Delta Kappa, Mortar Board, and Alpha Lambda Delta. We have many brothers who compete on the school's athletic teams and others who participate in all intramural sports. Theta Chi also has an active social life that includes numerous parties throughout the year and ends with our well-known Beach Formal.

Sonnet 104

William Shakespeare

To me, fair friend, you can be old,
For as you were when first your eye I ey'd,
Such seems your beauty still. Three winters cold
Have from the forests shook three summers' pride,
Three beauteous springs to yellow autumn turn'd
In process of the seasons have I seen,
Three April perfumes in three hot Junes burn'd
Since first I saw you fresh, which yet are green.
Ah! Yet doth beauty, like a dial-hand,
Steal from his figure, and no pace perceiv'd:
So your sweet hue, which methinks still doth stand,
Hath motion, and mine eye may be deceiv'd:
For fear of which, hear this, thou age unbred:
Ere you were born was beauty's summer dead.

What does being a Junior mean?

"Being a junior means hanging out with my senior friends, seeing them stress about being seniors, and then stressing with them about the inevitability of becoming a senior myself." -Chelsea Hull

"I think being a junior is being scared and excited about the next year and the future." -Liz Hamer

"Being a junior is finally being comfortable with what being a college student is all about. You are no longer a freshman and you are not yet the oldest on campus, but you are just right somewhere in the middle." -Maureen McAuliffe

Natalie Beville works on a paper in the Olin computer lab. Juniors are often faced with the decision of a major and what direction they want their lives to take. Many students prepare to take the MCAT, LSAT, or GRE to get into medical, law, or graduate schools..

Learning to Handle the Stress

Bob Dunn and Jonathan Wilke play games on their Sony Play Station to release tension and relax. There are many outlets to relieve the pressure on campus. Students run and exercise, participate in intramurals and catch movies with friends.

Sophomore year brings many new pressures to the lives of BSC students. They are caught between still getting adjusted to college and preparing for life after college. Classes are harder and big decisions, such as choosing a major, loom over everyone's head. Here are a few suggestions on how to handle the stress:

What does being a Freshman mean?

The first year of college provides new opportunities and new experiences for everyone. Meeting new people, building friendships, and working harder inside and outside of classes than ever before are examples of what it means to Mary Elizabeth May.

Jamie Drysdale adds, "Everything is a new experience—you learn what your niche is at BSC. It's an awesome time. The new people you meet make it great."

Meeting new people is also important to Amy Seay. She believes that being a freshman means "1500 new faces and 1500 possible new friends."

Amy Seay and Bill Cyrus get down at the annual orientation square dance and hoedown. Freshman students get a chance to meet their classmates and have a little fun.

Roommates

Sharing a room with someone is something many experience for the first time when they come to college. It is hard to learn to share a very small space with someone else, someone who may or may not be anything like you. Differences in opinions about what activities, such as studying, showering, talking on the phone, coming in and going out, and being loud, should take place are also causes for tension between roommates and suitemates. Sometimes these differences are trivial and easy to handle, but other times the differences can lead to major problems. Usually, these differences can be resolved or at least tolerated until the roommates can devise a plan on how to live together or go their separate ways.

Stressing Out

College brings more opportunity and more freedom than high school, but as freshmen soon find out, it also brings more stress. The first-year students are forced to come up with new ways to deal with all the added pressures of college life. Many students, like Jerry Cotney "work harder to get 'it' over with." Amy Seay finds that whining to her suitemates helps her to cope. Sarah Williams believes that taking a break and a nap works the best to overcome stress.

Winds of Change

The change of coming to college is one that every freshman must go through. For Jamie Pursell, the hardest part is that the dorm rooms are too small. He thinks, however, that the best thing about BSC is its small size.

Jennifer Morris believes that a great advantage of being a BSC student is knowing all of her professors and having them know her.

The hardest part of coming to college for Jerry Cotney was fraternity pledgeship. He believes the best thing about BSC is "how everyone lives together." Friends are always close by to help relieve the everyday college stress.

Amanda Mills and Lauren Brewer visit in Goodwin Dorm. Next door neighbors often become the best of friends.

Hanging TOUGH!

Get that ball!

Junior Jessica Walker tries to steal the ball from a Mobile opponent. Walker, from Fort Payne, had four goals and five assists for the season.

What a goalie!

Sophomore Allison Popp, a goalie from Huntsville, punts the ball after a save. In her second year as goalie, Popp was injured midway through the season. However, she still contributed plenty of playing time and saves, and she even returned to finish out the season. All photos by Nick Nunally.

in' Along

homore forward Kirsten Schultz, from Marietta, Georgia, advances toward the opponent's goal. Schultz contributed six goals and three assists to the 1997 season.

Defense!

Top Scorer

Sophomore forward Diane Bassett, a former Pelham High School standout, concentrates during practice. Bassett provided thirteen goals for the women's soccer team this season, which closed out the 1997 season with a 10-10 record. All photos by Nick Nunally.

Running Laps

All the women's soccer players run laps both inside and outside of practice to stay in shape.

Concentration

Kick It!

Junior Jen Parker attempts to move the ball further down the field. Parker had six goals and six assists during the season.

Cooling Off

Senior captain Sean McBride cools off during one of the regular-season games. McBride scored thirteen goals for the Panthers this season.

Movin' In

Senior forward Binni Schram moves in toward the ball. Schram had seventeen goals and six assists for the 1997 season.

Use Your Head

Freshman Ryan Neil uses his head to move the ball along. Neil, from Birmingham, shows promise of a great soccer career at BSC.

Super Goalie

Goalie Igor Ranitovic, a sophomore, demonstrates his skill and form as he punts the ball.

Ranitovic, with his ability to stop opposing shots from hitting the net, helped the Panthers achieve a winning 16-5-1 record this season.

Kicking Back

A Winning SEASON

Steal It!

Senior midfielder/defender Jason Lynn has his eye on stealing the ball. Lynn had one goal and four assists for the 1997 season.

Gimme a Break

to sacrifice your body to help the team.

Slam Dunk

BSC basketball continues to excite Panther fans

Time Out Coach Duane Reboul delivers mid-game instructions to the players. His expertise was again instrumental in producing a winning season for the Panthers.

Pass It Junior Dori Kristmannsson, from Reykjavik, Iceland, looks past an opponent to pass the ball to another BSC player.

Behind the Arc Freshman Ryan Reboul of New Orleans, Louisiana, demonstrates perfect form as he shoots for three.

Taking it to the Hole

Senior John Woods slams home another impressive dunk. Woods helped to lead the Panthers to another winning season and a victory in the Trans-South Conference Championship Tournament. The Panthers then received a bid to play in the NAIA National Tournament held annually in Tulsa, OK. Although they did not bring home the trophy, they made BSC proud by representing the college well among some of the best teams in the nation. The Panthers finished the season with an 11 - 3 record in the conference and a 28 - 5 overall record. All photos by Nick Nunnally.

Record Book

The 1997 - 1998 Panther basketball team watches the game as manager Kerwin Lonzo prepares water for the players at the next time-out. This season marked the first time in seventy-nine years of BSC basketball that a squad had posted twenty straight wins to open a season. All photos by Nick Nunnally.

Dribble It Sophomore guard J. P. Westfield dribbles down the court and looks to pass the ball.

arm-Up Senior Will Worrell takes a couple of practice shots before the game begins.

an in the Middle Senior Justin Dankel tries to pass the ball without it being blocked by an opponent.

Taking it to THE HOOP

Panther squad continues basketball excellence

Catching Air Senior Rod Willie jumps to intercept a pass from an opponent. Willie had a total of 100 rebounds for the season.

Stand Up AND YELL

The BSC cheerleaders work extremely hard to support their team

Stunts The cheerleaders concentrate as they build a pyramid for a halftime cheer. They work hard in practice to and at home games to give the team as much support as possible.

Defense, Panthers, Defense Rachel Ellis, Florence Culpepper, and Jessica Minyard cheer on the Panthers.

Stand Up and Yell Freshman Laura Serio tries to get the Panther fans involved in the action during a time-out.

Game, Set, MATCH!

The men's tennis team proved to be tough competition for the teams that they faced this season. As always the team had an impressive regular season and represented the college well in conference play.

Practice Makes Perfect Coach Brian Rahaley hits balls to a player during practice.

Concentration Junior Raymond Knorr concentrates on a forehand shot. Concentration and follow-through are very important for each shot.

On the Move

Sophomore Jonathan Wilke of Niceville, Florida, swings to return the ball and prepares to get back to the center of the court. The 1998 tennis team once again represented BSC well in both the state and across the country, as they traveled all over the nation to compete. All photos by Nick Nunnally.

Hey, BATTER!

BSC baseball heats up the diamond by starting the season at number 1

Keep your eye on the ball. Junior Chad Post breaks his stance so that he can prepare for the next pitch. Post, a rightfielder, was an outstanding offensive and defensive player for the Panthers this season.

Coaching John Driskill, a freshman from Gadsden, gets last minute instructions from Coach Shoop as he goes up to the plate to bat.

Getting It Right

Junior transfer Nick Dumas consults with Coach Shoop before his turn at bat. Baseball season offers fans the opportunity to get outdoors and enjoy the sun and the national pastime. Bingo games and give-aways also entice the Panther baseball fans to attend every game. The 1998 Panthers turned in another winning season. All photos by Nick Nunnally.

Brawn and Brains

Southern Song

The Concert Choir dazzles the country with its performance

The members of the Birmingham-Southern College Concert Choir work extremely hard, practicing several times a week, to perfect the songs that they perform for the campus community, the state, and the nation. A highlight of the concert choir's season is the annual Service of Lessons and Carols held each December with the Southern Chorale and the Alumni Choir.

Gaines Brake, Christy Hitson, Jessica Hall, Amy Hajari, and Gaines Johnston pose for a picture at a reception following their New York show. The hours of practice paid off in a beautiful performance.

michelle falls carries more than her fair share into goodwin, even stuffing pillow under her already-full arms. Dedication beamed from the faces of the triangle club craig langford carries a freshman's belongings through the newly renovated Margaret Daniel Residence Hall.

yin ho smiles at her good fortune to carry a pillow while tasha lewis carries a heavier box of clothes. triangle club and residence life worked closely to assure a smooth move-in.

April Barber winces as she picks up one more load of clothes from the car of an incoming freshman. The effort of her and other triangle club members made for the quickest move-in in years.

saira faraqi and sally bedgood take a rest after hauling clothes, stereos, televisions, and microwaves. They are tired, but satisfied with their work.

Triangle Club

...the triangle club is a group of sophomores whose mission is to serve the campus community through activities such as staffing registration, serving as hosts for preview days, and welcoming the year's incoming freshman by helping them move in.

Quest II

...quest II receives funds from the sga to provide entertainment opportunities for bsc students. to this end, quest II sponsors two large band parties (entertainment fest in the fall and southern comfort in the spring) as well as other enjoyable events. they brought to campus acts such as david allan coe and leftover salmon.

the rain may have flooded the dorm quad and moved the second night of southern comfort to simpson, but the water has not dampened the partying spirit of this crowd enjoying the music of leftover salmon.

quest II can be tiring, that's why jennifer sawyer eats an energizing doughnut from the hands of a hooded figure while shanon herring watches in amazement.

andrew murray, sara jones, and quest II coordinator troy covington pause to consider all the work involved in making southern comfort a great event.

BSC Conservancy

...the mission of the bsc conservancy is to educate students about the importance of environmental awareness. populated by a small group of dedicated individuals, the conservancy sponsors events such as the fun walk and earth day events. one of the biggest jobs of conservancy members is emptying the blue recycling bins found across campus. the conservancy plans to affiliate with a national organization next year.

jennifer heaven, vice president of the conservancy, stands next to the truck that she and other members use to transport the blue recycling bins to the recycling center.

it looks like it's time for recycling pickup again in goodwin hall. one bin each for plastic, aluminum, and glass were placed on each dorm floor.

will duncan, president of the conservancy, smiles as he carries a recycling bin that once held empty glass bottles the dorm halls.

Student Government Association

...the sga is the representative body of the students of bsc and has the power to appropriate the activity fee paid by each student upon arrival, appoint the honor council, and serve as the liaison between students and the administration. the sga meets every wednesday night and are elected in the spring to one-year terms.

Change is inevitable. Day changes to night. Fall changes to winter. Birmingham-Southern is no exception. Each spring the senior class graduates and is replaced by a bright and hopeful class of freshmen in the fall. A professor may come and go and sometimes we even lose close friends forever. However, the world continues to turn. The leaves on the trees change colors, transforming our campus into a burst of red, orange, and gold in the fall. Then magically, in the spring, they become green again. However, this year has seen a dramatic change in the physical appearance of the Birmingham-Southern community. Old buildings have been renovated and new buildings erected. A physical fitness center exists. Snavely is no more, for the Norton Campus Center now stands in its place. Whether it is this appearance or the people who make up this college community, Birmingham-Southern College will forever be
